

THE WHEEL OF LIFE

POSITIVE MINDS CREATE POSITIVE LIVES

Notes:

- Balance is personal and unique to each individual - what may be satisfying or balanced for some may be stressful or boring for others.
- This exercise raises your awareness and allows you to plan a life that is more satisfying and closer to your definition of balance. It also helps clarify priorities for goal-setting.
- Balance must be assessed over time. A regular check-in (e.g. with this exercise) can highlight useful patterns and help you learn even more about yourself.
- Another option is for you to ask someone who knows you well to complete the scores for you (sometimes it's helpful to see an outside perception of your life 'balance').
- Important: This must be someone you trust and whose opinion you value - and remember that others may have hidden agendas.

Detailed Instructions:

1. Review the following 8 categories on your 'Wheel of Life'. The categories should together create a view of a balanced life for you. If necessary you can split category segments to add in something that is missing, or re-label an area to make it more meaningful for you. Examples of changes are:
 - Family and Friends: Split "Family and Friends" into separate categories.
 - Significant Other: Changing the category name to "Dating", "Relationship" or "Life Partner".
 - Career: Changing the category name to "Motherhood", "Work", "Business" or "Volunteering".
 - Finances: Changing the category name to "Money", "Financial Security" or "Financial Wellbeing".
 - Health: The category name could be split or changed to "Emotional", "Physical", "Fitness", "Spiritual" or "Wellbeing".
 - Home Environment: The category could split or change to "Work Environment" for career or business clients.
 - Fun & Leisure: The category name could change to "Recreation"
 - Personal Growth: The category name could change to "Learning", "Self-Development" or "Spiritual"
 - Other categories to add could include "Security", "Service", "Leadership", "Achievement" or "Community".
2. Think about what success or satisfaction would feel like for each area.
3. Rank your level of satisfaction with each area of your life by drawing a line across each segment. Place a value between 1 (very dissatisfied) and 10 (fully satisfied) against each area to show how satisfied you are currently with each category in your life.
4. The new perimeter of the circle represents your Wheel of Life.
5. Now, looking at the wheel here are some great questions for you to take the exercise deeper:
 - Are there any surprises for you?
 - How do you feel about your life as you look at your Wheel?
 - How do you currently spend time in these areas? How would you like to spend time in these areas?
 - What would make that a score of 10?
 - What would a score of 10 look like?
 - Which of these categories would you most like to improve?
 - How could you make space for these changes in your life?
 - What help and support might you need from others to make changes and be more satisfied with your life?
 - What change should you make first? And what change do you want to make first?
 - If there was one key action you could take that would begin to bring everything into balance, what would it be?
6. Taking action - the final step. To wrap-up the exercise you can identify one action for each area, and then pick 1-3 actions to get started. AND/ OR choose the 3 areas you most want to work on and identify an action for each.

TIP:

*If you are extremely busy or stressed try asking yourself,
"What is the smallest step I could take to get started?"*
